Once Again, Bing Gathers His Friends

For the 20th year, professional golfers teamed with amateur players, at the invitation of Bing Crosby, started play today on the Monterey Peninsula in the 1966 National Pro-Amateur Golf Championship. Play will continue tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday for a new high purse of $104,500. The event is expected to draw 26,000 spectators.

This year's Crosby Clambake is the 25th anniversary of the event.

Bing's "gathering of friends" began at Rancho Santa Fe in 1937, was discontinued during the war years when Bing and his friends were entertaining at camps and selling war bonds, and has been held at Pebble Beach since 1946.

Today, tomorrow and Saturday the field rotates over Cypress Point Club, Monterey Peninsula Country Club Shore Course and Pebble Beach. On Sunday the low 40 teams, and the pros in the money, play off the final 18 holes of the 72-hole tourney at Pebble Beach.

Prize money is divided $70,000 for the straight professional scores; $30,000 for the pros in the pro-amateur; and $4,500 for the daily double. The sum of $1,000 goes to the top pro and $500 to the runner up each day for the first three days.

All of the top professionals of the country are here including last year's champion, Bruce Crampton, along with Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, and such old favorites as Byron Nelson and others.

"We added the extra $4,500 this year," Bing said, "so that we'd have a bigger purse than the tournament Bob Hope sponsors." Hope has always played in Bing's tournament, but will join his host as

Fire Chief Reprimanded For Using Bad Judgment

Fire Chief Bob Baker, yesterday, was reprimanded by the city council for failure to manage properly funds budgeted for the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department. Furthermore, the council directed him to exercise the utmost economy for the balance of the 1965-66 fiscal year which ends on June 30 and to improve his relations with other city departments and the community.

Unfamiliarity with budgetary procedures practiced in the City of Carmel resulted in his overexpending to an amount of approximately $1,700 the budgeted funds in the fire department's maintenance and repair and materials and supplies budgets, the report said.

However, the council found that, regardless of unfamiliarity with procedures, Chief Baker had disregarded the necessity of obtaining proper administrative and council approval.

"Ordinary prudence and common sense should have suggested the necessity of obtaining such approval," the council stated.

The expenditures made by the fire chief were for materials and supplies for the maintenance and repair of the fire department facilities, including remodeling and reorganization of the fire house premises.

As to Chief Baker's relations with other city departments and the community, the council found he had "exercised bad judgment."

The council, presumably, was referring to relations with the police department concerning overtime parking of cars belonging to fire department personnel and with the Carmel Red Cross chapter over ambulance service provided by the fire department.

The council report containing

Developer Plans Shopping Court Near Post Office

Next week, Carmel planning commissioners, acting as a board of adjustments, will consider and act upon a request to waive on-site employer and employee parking required under a new city law for a shop and office complex at the southwest corner of Dolores and Fifth.

Plans for the courtyard development, submitted by Don W. Berry of Pebble Beach, are to have the required eight-space parking located one-half block north on Dolores in the residence zone. This proposal requires rezoning of one lot to P-3 landscaped parking lot use.

Shown on the plans for the two-story complex are eight offices upstairs opening off balconies; nine shops around a courtyard on the ground floor. Entrances to the landscaped court will be off both Dolores and Fifth streets.

Mr. Berry has a 54-year lease on the two-lot site from the Leidig family. Removed from the property will be two dwellings.

There are two buildings in the proposed complex. One follows the perimeter of the property from Dolores to Fifth streets. The other is located at the corner of Dolores and Fifth. Total building coverage is 5,306 square feet. Planting areas occupy another 3,666 square feet of the site. Walkways and paving cover 2,328 square feet.

Donald F. L. Wald, A.I.A., of Pacific Grove, architect and planner, designed the complex with natural cedar shingled roof and gallery rail treatment. Shop windows are fixed in wood mullions with planting boxes below. Sculptured wood plaques beautify the buildings in the plans. Stucco combined with wood siding is used for the exterior walls.

August Nieto is associated with Mr. Berry as leasing agent for the proposed court complex near the post office. He states that some existing trees will be retained on the 8,000 square feet site.

The larger of the two dwellings which will be demolished was built in 1904 on the east side of Dolores south of Ocean. In 1909, the house was bought by Mrs. Elizabeth Leidig and her sons, Robert, Fred, Benjamin and Lawrence. The Leidig family had been proprietors of Carmel's only grocery for two years.

In 1929, Robert Leidig planned to build shops on the site of the family home. He moved the dwelling to its present location.

Because of trees, the house arrived at its destination by a circuitous route. It was moved down Ocean Avenue to Lincoln, north on Lincoln to Sixth, east on Sixth to Dolores, north on Dolores to Fifth. The big downstairs windows of this house once were part of the Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

The smaller dwelling which also will be removed, was the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Leidig for many years. For the last 11 and one-half years of her life, Miss Lupe Ramos lived with her.

Following Mrs. Leidig's death, Lupe rented the house until last summer. On July 1, she moved to a house further up the street from the one in which she had lived for 29 and one-half years.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Clara

Peace Corps Assigns Carmel Youths To Nigeria And Panama

Two more young Carmelites, both graduates of Carmel High School, have been selected for the Peace Corps. They are Frank Palmer, son of Mrs. John Ruster of Carmel and Dr. Francis Palmer of New York City, and James Malcolm "Joey" Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Foster of Carmel.

Frank, who enjoyed the experience of living with a large native family during rigorous training in Puerto Rico, has been visiting here and left last night for his assignment to the rural health program in Panama. Since corps members may not return to the United States, except in emergencies, during their two-year service, Frank may not visit the Canal Zone, although he may travel in South or Central America when he accumuates leave.

A graduate of the University of California, Berkeley, Frank was doing graduate work in physiology at the time he applied for the Peace Corps.

Joey, a physics major, graduated last June from Amherst College, where he also piled up quite a record in track. He and two other corps members, after completion of training at U.C.L.A., were able to spend the Christmas holidays here with his family before departing for Nigeria. Joey will teach math or physics in a secondary school, presumably in the western part of that country since his language study would indicate the location of his assignment.

Although English is the second language and is used in the secondary schools, all of the approximately 650 corps representatives in Nigeria have been taught one of the three basic native languages, of which there are some 250 dialects. Joey's group of 38 was one of three in the United States prepared for duty in Nigeria.

Carmel Planners To Ponder Refinery Use In Monterey County

Elimination of oil refineries from any list of permitted uses in Monterey County will be considered by the Carmel Planning Commission next week. Yesterday, in study session, commissioners decided to consider this matter and make recommendations to the county planning commission which is considering permanent zoning for the Moss Landing area.

City Attorney William B. Burleigh, told the commission that the Six Cities Fund organization, which opposed extension of the interim ordinance under which the

Coffin Attempts To Save Project EDINN

An effort to avoid disaster to a proposed four-county federally supported education project was made Tuesday by Edwin Coffin, Monterey County superintendent of schools, when he announced he would give up a $10,000 yearly salary as director of the project.

At a meeting with county superintendents from Santa Cruz, San Benito and San Luis Obispo counties, associated with Monterey County in the educational innovation project, Mr. Coffin stated that the project was too important to the welfare of children to be lost over his being paid a salary in addition to his $17,500 annual salary as county superintendent.

Dissension over the salary led to threats that some areas might withdraw from the approved project.

Prepared under the direction of Mr. Coffin in the county superintendent's office, the million-dollar Project EDINN in the four coastal counties was one of nine approved in California without requested revision by the U.S. Office of Education.

Under proposed Project EDINN, the Carmel Unified School District will take part in two research projects. They are videotape recordings of teacher activities to improve instruction through self-evaluation and association with nine other California school districts in a consortium to improve the quality of education.

A further effort to assure continued federal approval of Project EDINN was announced by Mr. Coffin. This was the appointment of a board of governors to assist him in the planning of the project.

Named as governors were the four county superintendents involved; Henry Brickell, assistant superintendent of the Manhasset public schools in New York State; Donald Clark, librarian at UC Santa Cruz; and William Shanner of Carmel, IBM management consultant. Two more members, to represent public and private schools of the county, are still to be appointed.

In a statement to the Pine Cone, Mr. Coffin says:

"As the applicant for the proposed supplementary education center, through the Monterey County Office of Education, I will exert every effort to assure the success of the planning period and to achieve approval of an operational grant.

"It shall be my pleasure to continue to serve under the expanded duties and responsibilities of the Monterey County Superintendent of Schools."

Governor Honors Farr And Adams

State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel and Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands were awarded special citations by Governor Brown last week at the Governor's Conference on California Beauty.

"Both have demonstrated effective and continuing leadership in improving California's environment over a long period.

"It is fitting that we honor them for their achievements. Because of their efforts, hundreds of thousands of citizens have become more aware of the need to preserve California's beauty and improve our environment," Governor Brown said.

Senator Farr's honor was bestowed because of his "continuing and outstanding leadership in preserving the scenic resources of California."

Mr. Adams' citation read, "for creative excellence in capturing the natural beauty of California through the medium of photography."

CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY DIRECTOR THANKS COMMUNITY

Area council members from the three counties served by the Monterey office of the Children's Home Society attended the first regular luncheon meeting of 1966 at the Casa Munras on January 10. Mrs. Ruth Canada, district director of the statewide private adoption agency, was a special guest and speaker. Mrs. Canada paid high tribute to the chapters and council members for their outstanding work.

She expressed regret that, personally, she could not extend the gratitude of the Children's Home Society adoption agency to all the generous friends in the community whose contributions are so invaluable. "All of this," Mrs. Canada said, "becomes the greatest gift for children—secure love and happiness in adoptive homes."

On January 19, Mrs. Leonard Cohen and Mrs. John Robotti of Carmel will represent the area council at the district board meeting in San Jose.

CBPWC EXTENDS INVITATION

The Carmel Business and Profession Women's Club invites women of the business and professional life of the community to attend its meetings, which are held on the second Thursday evening of each month at the Carmel Red Cross chapter house.

On January 13, the club's meeting featured a talk and slides on a European trip by Phyllis Howard. Mrs. Howard's journey, by plane, bus, auto and boat, took her through many countries on the continent, also the British Isles. Of special interest to members were slides showing the differences in shops and the modes of farming.

Jeanette Alden

Private funeral services have been held in the Mission Mortuary for Mrs. Jeanette B. Alden, who died Saturday at her home in Carmel after a brief illness.

A native of London, England, she was a resident of Carmel for the past 11 years.

Mrs. Alden leaves her husband, Langford T. Alden, and a niece, Mrs. Natalie Harrowe, both of Carmel.

MAYOR BUYS AFS STOCK

Mayor Herbert Blanks of Carmel and Mrs. Blanks are seen above holding the friendship stock certificate they have just purchased from Mrs. Richard Sippel, president of the Carmel American Field Service chapter. A former AFS foreign exchange student from Carmel High School, Pat Sippel is working with other members of the AFS group to sell as many of these stock certificates as possible in order to raise $700 to bring an AFS foreign exchange student to Carmel High next autumn.

Stock shares are 25 cents each and may be obtained in any quantity by phoning Mrs. Sippel at 624-1788. The desired $700 is a part of the scholarship necessary to bring a student from abroad to Carmel for one year. The other portion is provided by the National American Field Service organization. While in the United States, AFS students are guests of American families.

Nora Blair

Family services were held Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, for Mrs. Nora E. Blair, a resident of Carmel for the past 13 years, who died Saturday while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gerald (Barbara) Wasserman of Monterey.

Mrs. Blair, who was born in Kentucky April 1, 1890, came to the Peninsula from Los Angeles to be near her daughters, Mrs. Wasserman and Mrs. Hugh (Virginia) Hannon of Monterey, both former Carmel residents. Her husband, the late Myron Blair, died in 1942.

She was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel, and of the Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

In addition to her daughters, Mrs. Blair is survived by a sister, Mrs. Marie Parrot of Fresno, and a brother, Charles Towse of Mitchell, Nebraska.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Margaret Ramsey

Family services for Mrs. Margaret Ingrid Ramsey, 73, who died Monday in a Peninsula nursing home after a period of ill health, have been held in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove.

Born February 14, 1892, she was a native of Lansing, Michigan, and had been a resident of Carmel for two years. Mrs. Ramsey formerly made her home in Seattle, Washington, and in Santa Cruz.

She leaves a son, M. J. Vercoe of Monterey; a sister, Mrs. Esther Riggs of Corona del Mar; a brother, Paul Johnson of El Centro; and one grandchild.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of funeral services.

Lea Goloubkine

Private services were held Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, for Mrs. Lea Goloubkine, who died Monday in a Peninsula nursing home after a lengthy illness.

For the past two and a half years, she had made her home with her son-in-law, Mark Bader, of lower Carmel Valley.

Mrs. Goloubkine was a naturalized citizen of Belgium, having been born in Moscow, Russia, April 3, 1880.

She is survived by a grandson and granddaughter. Her daughter, Mrs. Lida Bader, died in 1961.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Honor Band Concert

An Honor Band, composed of members from 13 high schools in the Monterey Bay tri-county area, will present a concert Saturday in the Santa Cruz civic auditorium at 8 p.m., under the direction of Edwin Kruth, director of bands at San Francisco State College.

Planning Course Starts Tonight

Members of the Carmel Planning Commission were instrumental in setting up this year's series of classes, lectures and seminars on planning sponsored by the Monterey County Planning Council to which all Carmel commissioners belong.

All interested persons are invited to participate in the nine-week planning course which starts tonight and ends with an all-day conference at Asilomar on March 19.

The course is being conducted in cooperation with the Salinas Adult School. Two-hour sessions, from 7-9 p.m., will be held in the choral room at Salinas High School tonight, January 27, February 10, 17 and 23, March 3 and 10. Outstanding specialists in each field to be studied have been obtained. The first hour of each session will be devoted to instruction and information; the second hour to questions and answers on precise points.

"What Is Planning? History of Planning and Legislative Base for Planning will be covered this evening.

Other sessions will cover The Master Plan and Its Elements; Subdivisions; Streets and Highways; Land Use and Zoning; Recreation; Public Buildings; and Financial Planning.

The Asilomar conference which ends the course will be based on New Techniques in Planning.

Carmel Tops Hollister But Loses To Live Oak

By Chris Laiolo, Mark Czirban and Rusty Vandevort

The Carmel High Padres smashed the Hollister Haybalers, 60-47, on January 11 in the M.T.A.L. basketball race.

The Carmel lightweights lost in a very exciting game, 46-51. As the game started the lightweights were behind and stayed there. At halftime they were 8 points down but brought the game back during the third quarter to only four points.

When Randy Newman, one of Carmel's starters, sprained an ankle, the Padres fell back down again and lost by five points. High point man for Carmel was Jack Campbell with 14 followed by Ron Parsons and Doug Hill with 13 and 12 respectively. Campbell played his usual terrific game on the boards.

The Carmel varsity started their usual slow game but sparked up at the end of the first quarter to take the lead 16-14. The half-time score was 32-24. Doug Adams collected 8 points in the second quarter. Cunningham and Laiolo played well during the first half.

As the fourth quarter began, there were 15 points between Carmel and the Hollister underdogs. This didn't quench the Padres' thirst for victory and they scored 16 more points to smash the Haybalers by 13 points.

LIVE OAK WHIPS CARMEL

Friday night, the undefeated Live Oak Acorns beat the Carmel High five 43-33. Live Oak was led by their six-foot, six-inch center, Paul Scheidegger, who racked up 21 points during the evening.

Winners as usual, the Carmel junior varsity took the Live Oaks 44-39. The Padre babes led at half-time 27-18 but dropped to a two point, 32-30, lead in the third quarter. Pulling ahead again, they showed their skill by holding a small lead to win. Mark Johnston and Brian McEldowney shared high-points honors by scoring 12 points apiece.

The lightweights fought back in the second half after starting slowly in the first, which ended with 30-13 for Live Oak. Carmel closed the score to two points at the end but were edged out 57-55. Doug Hill, Carmel's top scorer, made all 18 of his points in the second half. Jack Campbell took 14 points and Josh Feuerman, 13, for Carmel.

The varsity stayed close for the first half, with the score at half-time 19-15 in favor of the Acorns. Tony "Spider" Laiolo was forced to sit out most of it because he "stung himself" with a bad cold.

The Padres dropped farther behind in the third quarter, scoring only four points, while the Live Oaks gained nine.

In the fourth quarter, Tim Hall came in and got seven of the Padres' 14 points, giving him high-point honors for the game. Following were Fonseca and Cunningham, with six points each.

Carmel Planners To Ponder Refinery Use

Humble Oil Company was given a special permit for a refinery at Moss Landing, is now planning to make a presentation to county planners requesting that uses which might cause air pollution be removed from the permanent law.

Commissioner George Willox advocated pursuing controls of such uses in Monterey County on the state level. He noted with approbation, that women's organizations on the Peninsula oppose the Humble Oil refinery and remarked that when "ladies" get behind a movement it can become nationwide and whatever is being opposed gets "clobbered."

Commissioners recommended to county planners that a proposed residential hotel at Camino del Monte and Santa Fe streets should be allowed only if developed in a density compatible with the surrounding residential area; that off street parking be provided; that no more land be involved than that which the former Community Hospital annex occupied.

The residential hotel is planned for the building and site formerly used by the hospital, more recently by Bishop Kip School. The commission recommended similar restrictions when the property was proposed for convalescent hospital use.

Planners held a public hearing on the request of Marion Brown and Jean Williamson to divide property at Flanders Way and Crespi Lane into two building sites. Francis P. Lloyd, attorney for the applicants, presented their case which was referred to the commission's land use committee for report and action next week.

Planners decided that, when required conditions have been met, use permits may be granted for remodelling of Richfield Oil Company service station at San Carlos and Seventh; a basement parking facility for Hofsas House with access off San Carlos at Third; and a parking facility for 977 Incorporated on Mission south of Ocean.

No person spoke at the public hearing held by the commission on the new city law controlling auction sales.

Evading Confusion

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels are fleeing the invasion of Crosby Tournament crowds for for the peace and quiet of Rodeo during this year's activities. Their house, however, will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moore of Lodi, who celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at the van Loben Selses' home in November, and their daughter, Angela. Also in residence will be the Moores' friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Plaskett of King City. Another of the Lodi couple's daughters, Rosemary, is a Carmel resident, as are Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Post.

Other news from the van Loben Selses is that their daughter, Elizabeth, and her husband, Steven Stupack, are now with the Peace Corps in Uruguay, where they are working in an agricultural community. Elizabeth left the Corps last Spring, following survival training in Puerto Rico, to marry Steven, who was then studying for his doctorate in medieval history at the University of California. After extensive travel in the U.S., the couple decided to enlist in the Corps and underwent training, including Spanish language study, in Kansas and at Texas Christian University before being assigned to South America.

Puerto Vallarta Vacation

Tanned by the tropical sun and full of new zest after a month in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, Louis Conlan returned to Carmel last week with the report that the coastal resort is as popular as ever with both Mexican and American travelers and that there is a continuing increase in the number of U.S. citizens in more-or-less permanent residence. While there, Mr. Conlan traveled to Tuito, high in the rugged Sierra south of Vallarta, to study the music of the Chacala Indians in the vicinity of the inland pueblo.

He also relates an amusing tale of a cruise ship which sailed into the bay and dropped anchor in the still-dockless port. The ship disgorged some 200 passengers from dugout canoes for a look around and, having depleted its water supply, sent the passengers' and the boat's laundry ashore for attention. There being one rather erratic laundry in the community, most washing is done in the Rio Cuale by colorful groups of women, for whom the river is also the center of social and gossiping activity. The upshot was, naturally, that the soiled clothes were not washed, couldn't be gathered up, and the ship sailed off leaving the passengers' garb behind, where it still may be, drying over rocks by the river.

Receives Grant

Richard Robinson of Carmel, chairman of the department of biological sciences at Monterey Peninsula College, received notice this week that he will receive a $900 grant-in-aid for continuance of his research for a Ph.D. in botany.

The award has been granted by The Society of the Sigma Xi for the Encouragement of Scientific Research.

With the aid of a $3,000 National Science Foundation grant, Robinson completed all formal requirements for his doctoral degree at the University of Oklahoma during his 1964-65 sabbatical year.

Kelleys Celebrated Twice

The accumulated birthdays of Robert D. Kelley of Pebble Beach, 50, and his son, George, 16, inspired Mrs. Kelley to issue invitations bidding friends to travel Route 66 with them at the green-and-white ball the couple gave Saturday evening at the Beach Club. Some 50 members of the younger set, including many of George's Robert Louis Stevenson schoolmates, joined an even larger number of the senior Kelleys' generation for dinner and dancing to celebrate the birthdays.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley took over Crichton House strictly for their own friends, whom they invited to brunch to top off the festivities.

Gail Bolter Teaching

Tomorrow, Gail Bolter, who has been student teaching in Jordan Junior High School in Palo Alto, will receive her bachelor of arts in social science, and elementary and junior high school teaching credentials from San Jose State College. Gail minored in language and geography. A member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, she attended Oregon State University and completed her German language requirements in Goethe Institute Degerndorf-Brannenberg, Germany. She also attended the Universitee de Marseille at Nice, France, and studied geography and Spanish in Guadalajara, Mexico.

The young teacher has long been a part-time resident of Carmel, where her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bolter Sr., and her sister, Mrs. Douglas Steinsieck, reside. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bolter Jr. of San Jose, are also frequent Carmel visitors. Gail plans to continue teaching in the Palo Alto area.

Received Congratulations

On his birthday Sunday, Robert A. Wells received the congratulations of his wife, their daughter, Mrs. Denise Martin, and their granddaughter, Kimberly Martin. The family enjoyed a buffet dinner at the Officer's Club at the Presidio, later returned to the Wells' home to welcome an old family friend, MacDonald Light, and to watch Mr. Wells blow out the candles on his birthday cake.

The Wells' son, Fred, serving with the Navy aboard the USS Firedrake, was represented by the gift he had sent his father.

Jenkinses In La Paz

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Jenkins of Pebble Beach packed up their underwater camera and snorkeling gear and boarded a plane for La Paz, Baja, California, on Tuesday. Enthusiastic beachcombers, sailors and undersea explorers, the Jenkinses have been Tahiti bound at this season for the past several years. This will be their first visit to the Mexican resort, whose accessibility and famed clear coastal waters were factors in their decision to investigate the tropical port.

Plaudit From Yale

Modest Charlotte Perry had to be coaxed to reveal that she recently received an unexpected testimonial from Yale University. Looking for all the world like a diploma, it reads "The School of Drama of Yale University, in commemoration of the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Department of Drama at Yale and the beginning of the teaching of drama at Yale, salutes Charlotte Perry, whose span of activity in the theatre includes the same 40 years." Many a career, such as that of actress Julie Harris, has begun under the tutelage of Miss Perry and her partner, Miss Portia Mansfield, and the Yale staff makes it clear that students coming to the university from the Perry-Mansfield School of Theatre and Dance are rated "tops."

Miss Perry and Miss Mansfield, incidentally, are entertaining two interesting guests, Mr. and Mrs. Al Huang, who are touring with Mr. Huang's modern dance group. A native of Formosa, Mr. Huang came to the United States to study architecture at the University of California at Los Angeles. He earned his way through college working as a draftsman but became interested in modern dance, switched successfully to that field, and is now an instructor in the school of dance at U.C.L.A. Mr. Huang, whose wife is the leading female dancer of his group, also taught at the Perry-Mansfield summer school in Steamboat Springs, Colorado, and has been invited to participate in the famous Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in Massachusetts next summer.

A New Grandson

Mrs. Orley A. Holm is as pleased with the birth of her grandson, Steven Joseph, as are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cardinalli of Seaside. The newcomer, who arrived at Community Hospital January 6, is the brother of Matthew Olson and of Debbie and Rusty Cardinalli. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cardinalli of Seaside.

Steven's mother, Dorothy Cardinalli, was born and raised in Carmel.

Brother Visiting

Theodore Lusignan of Mansfield, Ohio, is a current guest at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Lusignan of Pebble Beach. The Ohioan's daughter, Kathy, who is engaged in graduate work at Stanford University, will also be with the family to take in the Crosby and attendant social events.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

In one of the previous Crosby Clambakes, Bing was heard to say "There goes old Dino casing the place for a pizza joint!"

Far from being one, the new Club XIX at Del Monte Lodge is a deluxe restaurant featuring the classic cuisine of Tuscany.

Raffaello's is managed by Remo d'Agliano who tells us that the cuisine of Tuscany had its beginning in 600 B.C. The Etruscans dined with a degree of discrimination unmatched in the Western world. Italy and this same province of Tuscany produced the Florentine chefs who laid the foundation for France's peerless haute cuisine. These were the cooks Catherine di Medici took to the French court when she married Henry II in 1533.

Remo d'Agliano took time in his very busy life at Raffaelo's to tell us that his mother, Amelia, supervises the kitchen at their super cafe with its unparalleled view of the Pebble Beach golf link's 18th hole and the vista of Carmel Bay and Point Lobos beyond.

"Do not compare our breathtaking location with the French or Italian rivieras" smiled Remo. "This scenery is unique and belongs to those lucky enough to live on the Monterey Peninsula."

With 25,000 visitors due to witness the silver anniversary of the Crosby Pro-Am beginning today, we Carmelites are justly proud not only of our panoramas but also of our continental cuisine.

Dining in Italy is not all pizza! Milk and butter along with risotto (rice) and polenta (cornmeal) hold sway in the North of Italy. Raffaello's specializes in the best of the wine-and-olive-oil,, milk-and-butter with Parmesan technique to create a mosaic of Tuscan-French dishes.

While early foursomes will find the bar in Club XIX open at 10 a.m., the dining area does not operate until 11 o'clock when lunches are served from then until 2 p.m. Sandwiches are available from 11 a.m.-5 p.m and dinners from 6 to 10 p.m., excepting for Tuesdays when the staff takes time off.

With an experienced eye for the tiniest detail, Remo showed us his attractive menus made to resemble old parchment with ancient script. For lunch we chose minestrone, followed by an artichoke omelet and green salad with a lovely light white wine, crusty bread and espresso coffee.

For dinner on another occasion we had antipasto with our aperitivo, then we exclaimed with delight over the delicate fillet of sole cooked in wine, the rissotto Milano and grilled tomato halves. We had a suave, light, dry white dinner wine and ended with Gorgonzola and Bel Paese with pears, apples and grapes. Anesone liqueur topped off a most delightful dinner which included dancing to a sprightly combo. Who could ask for more?

When you go to Raffaello's this weekend (or any other time), luncheon and dinner guests will have gate fees refunded on presentation of gate receipts.

Instead of giving you a set menu, we now present some authentic Tuscan recipes modified so that even an amateur can simulate a pro in the kitchen at home.

MINESTRONE ALLA MILANESE
(Makes 12 servings)

3 tbsps. olive or salad oil; ½ cup finely chopped onion; ¼ cup finely chopped parsley; 3 beef-bouillon cubes; 1½ tsps. meat extract paste; 1 tsp. dried basil leaves; 1 tbsp. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; 1½ cups diced pared potatoes; 2 cups diced unpared zucchini; 1 cup, each, sliced celery and carrots and shredded celery; 1 lb. can undrained red kidney beans; 1 cup dry red table wine; 1 lb. can stewed tomatoes; ½ cup raw regular white rice; grated Parmesan cheese.

Heat oil in large kettle. Add onion and parsley; saute 5 minutes. Add 3 qts. water; bring to boil. Add bouillon cubes and meat-extract paste; stir until dissolved. Add basil, salt and pepper. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add rest of ingredients, except rice and cheese. Bring to boil. Reduce heat; simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Add rice, simmer, covered, 25 minutes longer, or just until rice is tender. When ready to serve in soup dishes or cups, top to individual preference with grated Parmesan cheese. This is best made in advance and reheated. If it seems to need thinning, add a little beef stock (canned consomme laced with dry red wine will do fine). But, remember, this is supposed to be a thick soup.

FILLET OF SOLE, MONTEREY
(Serves 4)

6 fillets of fresh Monterey Bay sole; 3 tbsps. butter; 1 shallot, chopped; salt; white pepper; ½ cup dry white wine; 1 tbsps. flour; ¼ cup milk.

Melt 2 tbsps. butter in skillet; add shallot, then fish fillets, sprinkled with salt and pepper. Pour wine over fillets. Cover pan and simmer 10 minutes. With wide spatula lift fish to oven-proof serving platter. Keep hot in oven. Reduce liquid left in pan to about one-third. Work remaining butter and flour together with fingertips. Add milk to pan, bring to a boil, then add the butter-flour mixture, in little pieces, and simmer, stirring constantly, until sauce bubbles and thickens. Pour sauce over fish and serve immediately.

RISSOTTO MILANO

1 cup regular white rice; 1 cup chicken broth; ¼ cup onion, chopped; 5 tbsps. butter; 1 cup hot water; 1 tsp. salt; 4 threads saffron; ¼ cup warm chicken broth; 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Cook rice in broth in well covered pan over low flame until dry. Watch so rice does not stick to pan. Brown onion lightly in 3 tbsps. butter. Add cooked rice and stir carefully with fork. Pour in hot water. Add salt and when rice is cooked dry again, add remaining 2 tbsps. butter. Dissolve saffron in ¼ cup additional warm broth and add just enough to the rice to color it yellow. Sprinkle cheese over top and serve on platter surrounded by grilled tomato halves dusted with dill. Have a bottle of light dry white dinner wine and pass crisp Italian breadsticks.

Finish with cheese, fruit, licores and caffe espresso.

Magnifico!

Travel Film Series Starts On February 5

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

WHALES — SOUTH BOUND

This past weekend was a perfect one for viewing the annual southward migration of gray whales. Almost every turnout point along the Sur Coast was occupied by individuals and groups sighting whales in the calm sea. We observed the delight of scores of people who were watching the mist fountains rising in the air as the whales surfaced.

In a recently published book, "Wandering Through Winter," by naturalist-writer Edwin Way Teale, he says, "As a rule, the travelers are not gregarious going south. Most migrate singly. But once, for miles, we kept pace with two who swam side by side, rhythmically diving and reappearing together. Each submergence lasted almost exactly seven minutes. A gray whale spends about 85 percent of his time under water. When he exhales we saw 35 cubic feet of air—a single exhalation greater than that expelled by 1,000 men in normal breathing — rushing from twin nostrils on the top of his head. Coming warm and moist from the lungs of the ocean mammal, it condensed in the cooler atmosphere. A fountain of mist shot upward. It hung in the air, drifted aside, slowly dissolved."

Further on the writer explains, "When it has reached its full growth, a gray whale may weigh more than 30 tons and have a length of 45 feet." In the same volume Teale tells of seeing the gray whales off the Silver Strand, south of San Diego, a sure indication of the arrival of winter.

"Whale watching is the sport that ushers in the season. They are nearing the end of an immense journey, 6,000 or 7,000 miles long, a journey that consumes between three and one-half and four months. During all this time, the gray whale apparently never stops to eat, and sleeps no more than four hours out of the twenty-four. At times, when the moon is full, the whales swim night and day without halting."

TEMPORARY COAST GALLERY CURATOR

Lili Tanner, who enjoys writing, sketching with chalk and charcoal, reading, the theater, and listening to contemporary music, is the person selected by Mrs. LaVerne Allen, curator of Coast Gallery, Big Sur, to be in charge of the gallery while she is on an extended vacation trip south of the border. Mrs. Allen, accompanied by her son Richard, is travelling in Mexico via plane and auto and will visit friends and travel with them to points of interest.

Miss Tanner, who says she finds "Big Sur truly enchanting" and is grateful for the opportunity of being "temporary curator of the gallery," is a Southern Californian, the daughter of an insurance company executive and a mother who enjoys time to write and play the piano. Her parents are Mike and Vera Tanner of Westwood.

Lili was born in Germany but has lived in Los Angeles and environs during most of her growing up years. She is a graduate of University High School and upon return home at the close of her work in Big Sur, plans to attend UCLA.

Over the past few years Miss Tanner has come to Big Sur a number of times. With each visit she finds an increased love for the dramatic beauty of the coastal country and she has come to know and appreciate some of the creative and unusually talented members of the community.

"I suppose you might say that my particular interest in writing 'runs in the family' (she is interested particularly in short story writing) for I've a sister who also finds this is a most satisfying occupation." Lili's sister and her husband, Rita and Thaddus Ashby are both writers and are currently collaborating on a book "Passport To An Island," and a play about Hiroshima, both soon to be released. The Ashbys have lived for the past three years at Ajijic on Lake Chapala, not far from Guadalajara, Mexico. Several years ago they spent some time in the Big Sur area when they were in residence at the former Henry Miller house on Partington Ridge.

HOT SPRINGS SEMINAR

"Some First Steps Toward Utopia" is the title of this weekend's seminar at the Big Sur Hot Springs, situated on Highway One about 40 miles south of Carmel. The aim of the seminar will be to create proposals which may actually be implemented. One of the speakers, Dr. Jack Downing, who has been associated with the development of community health programs in San Mateo County, will describe five small utopian communities which now exist, their aims, their members, the quality of their life. Another speaker, George Leonard, west coast editor for Look Magazine, will discuss imaginative programs being undertaken within larger organizations such as the National Association of Manufacturers and the Office of Education. Mr. Leonard, is currently incorporating this knowledge into a book entitled "Education." He has won national awards for education reporting.

CHURCH OFFICERS ELECTED

A candlelight potluck supper at the American Legion Hall preceded the annual membership meeting of the Church in the Round on Sunday.

Officers elected for 1966 are Mrs. Jane Harris, president; Ray Dunham, vice-president; Don Marshall, treasurer; Mrs. Shirley Walker, secretary; Mrs. Leona Brewster, committee coordinator.

Annual Police Report Shows Disregard For Parking Laws

Carmel residents and visitors apparently, to an astounding degree, disregarded parking laws in 1965, according to the annual report of the Carmel Police Department given to the city council by Chief Clyde Klaumann.

A total of 16,150 persons broke traffic laws in Carmel last year. Of this number, 12,442 persons found pink overtime parking slips when they returned to where they had left their cars. Faulty parking accounted for another 1,491 violations; parking in "No Parking" zones, 249; parking in loading zones, 488; parking in red zones, 197.

Other parking violations were parking in city hall lot, four; crosswalk, 71; driveway, 136; double, 112; by fire hydrant, seven.

Cars illegally parked with "for sale" signs totalled three; in intersections, five; over 18 inches from curb, 88; over 48 hours, 25; in passenger loading zones, 38; on sidewalks, 36.

Disregard for traffic laws was also indicated in the 248 citations issued by the police department in 1965 for excessive speeding; 208 for ignoring stop signs. A total of 50 drivers was cited for operating a motor vehicle without a license. Forty-one persons had no tail lights; 46 noisy mufflers. Twenty-two drivers received citations for being in speed contests. Seven persons were cited for driving on the beach. Another 154 citations were issued for various other traffic violations.

Complaints from the citizenry which were investigated by police last year came to 5,851. Of these, traffic collisions of one sort or another amounted to 333.

Animal reports, such as barking dogs totalled 302. Complaints were received about 28 dogbites. Police watched 1,466 houses for owners who were away. Miscellaneous reports in the past year amounted to 2,051.

Carmel policemen arrested 332 persons in 1965; 218 of these were wanted for traffic violations elsewhere.

Juvenile arrests totalled 75. Twenty-one drunk pedestrians were arrested; two drunk drivers. Minors in possession of liquor within the city who were arrested came to 27. Eleven persons were apprehended for having liquor on the beach. Petty theft accounted for 12 arrests; automobile theft, two. Five persons were arrested on bad check charges.

California Scenic Highway Guide Issued Last Week

Pioneering by Monterey County resulted last week in the publication of "The Scenic Route, A Guide For The Designation Of An Official Scenic Highway," a handsome volume designed and laid out by James Hill of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, Architects, and published by the state printing office.

The volume is prefaced by a photograph of the coast south of Carmel showing Point Sur, a portion of the terrain traversed by Highway One in Monterey County, which was the first scenic highway designation in California.

The plan for preservation of the coastal section of Highway One in Monterey County was used as a prototype in creating the state's official scenic highway system.

Directly responsible for creating an example for the rest of the state to follow in scenic highway designation were Monterey County Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson of Point Lobos, State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel and Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur.

The volume released by the state this week defines a scenic highway as a road "which incorporates not only safety, utility and economy but also beauty." Procedures to attain this status are spelled out for local jurisdictions.

The book is the result of cooperative action between the state advisory committee on a master plan for scenic highways and representatives of agencies appointed to the interdepartmental committee on scenic highways.

Nathaniel Owings, F.A.I.A., was vice chairman of the state advisory committee. Photographs by Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands are included in the scenic highway guide.

Clara Schlutter

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara D. Schlutter were held Tuesday morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, with Chaplain George L. Lutz of the First Methodist Church of Pacific Grove officiating. Mrs. Schlutter committed suicide Friday at her home on Junipero street, leaving a note which gave ill health as the reason.

Born March 20, 1900, in Halifax, Nova Scotia, she was a resident of Carmel for the past 15 years.

Mrs. Schlutter was a nurse by profession and served with the U.S. Army Nurse Corps during World War II. Her husband, the late Milton Schlutter, died 20 years ago.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Mildred Shever and Mrs. Grace Cairns of Toronto, Canada, and three brothers, Frank Desmond of Redwood City, James Desmond of New York City and Douglas Desmond of Toronto.

Inurnment took place at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

'Cam' Puget

Private services for prominent golf professional Camille Joseph "Cam" Puget were held Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, with the Reverend C. E. Wilson, chaplain at Robert Louis Stevenson School, officiating. Long in ill health, Mr. Puget remained active until his death on Friday at his Carmel Valley home.

A resident of the Peninsula since 1917, he was born in Santa Clara on November 16, 1905.

Mr. Puget, himself a fine golfer and holder of a number of records, was recognized as one of the most excellent instructors in the sport. During his 43 years with Del Monte Properties Company, he served as pro at the old Del Monte Hotel course, Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Pebble Beach. He assisted in the early planning of the Bing Crosby Tournament and for several years teamed up with the actor in the tournaments.

Mr. Puget was a life member of the Monterey Elks Lodge and of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

He is survived by his wife, Barbara J. Puget of Carmel Valley; two daughters, Mrs. Adrian Smeltzer of Carmel Valley and Mrs. Jack Russell of Monterey Peninsula Country Club; a sister, Mrs. Leslie Hicks of Monterey; a brother, Henry Puget of Pacific Grove; and four grandchildren.

Contributions in memory of Mr. Puget are preferred to the American Cancer Research Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Poetry, Photography Combined In Book

"The Widening Stream" is the title of a book with poetry by Richard Mack combined with photography by Wynn Bullock. Both are Peninsula residents.

Over a period of 25 years, Mr. Mack and Mr. Bullock each pursued a muse. Recently they became friends and collaborated on the volume which has been designed by Deborah Sussman who has worked with Charles Eames for years.

Richard Mack's poems are expositions of his theory that there is a great universal hunger for verse expressed in simple poetic form.

Mr. Bullock's photographs relate time's passage and the meaning of light in space rather than reproducing subject matter. Each print portrays a theme in Mr. Mack's poetry.

A total of 1,500 copies of "The Widening Stream" will be printed by Charles Wood and Associates. Of this number, 500 copies will be reserved for institutional and private collections.

Last Friday, from 5:30-8:30 p.m. an invitational reception honoring the publication of the book was given at the Henderson Gallery in Monterey by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kierstead Henderson.

COUNTY HOSPITAL VOLUNTEER TRAINING

An orientation course for new volunteers wishing to join and serve with the Monterey County Hospital Volunteer Auxiliary will be given on Wednesday at the hospital. The training session will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the hospital's volunteer department. Participants should bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be provided.

Placement is available in all patient care areas, gift shop, beauty service, information desk, outpatient clinics and ancillary departments.

Anyone wishing additional information may telephone Mrs. George Ivers Meyer (624-3234).

Here's how to save money on your Long Distance calls. Call station-to-station, in the evening or on weekends, and you can say a lot more for your money. Before you pick up the phone, it's a good idea to make a few notes about what you want to say. That way you won't forget anything. Remember, long distance rates are lowest every night and all day Sunday. You'll find the exact times for most economical calling in the front pages of your telephone directory.

I know elephant jokes are no longer in style, but here's a tale that's supposedly true. Calls from this country to Capetown, South Africa, had a hard time getting through, thanks to some African elephants. It seems the elephants were using telephone poles as back-scratchers, causing so much interference with their scratching that callers from the U.S. couldn't be heard.

The Crosby Clambake gets underway January 20th with its great professional and amateur field. In addition to the thousands of local on-the-scene visitors, the nation will join in with the help of NBC TV. The Bell System will again provide the materials and manpower required to get the NBC "picture" on its way to the national audience of over 25,000,000.

Coin telephones have changed quite a bit since they were first introduced some 75 years ago. Tomorrow's phones will be streamlined (notice the single coin slot) . . . and quiet, too, when you deposit your coin. Why these changes? Simply to make the phones look and work even better than before.

'U.S.A.' At White Oaks Theatre Lively Entertaining Production

By Dorothy Reed

No person is the hero of "U.S.A.," current production at the White Oaks Theatre, but the country itself, the United States, in an era that emerges from the stage as curiously innocent and unselfconscious. The early years of this century go by as headlines shouted by the players, with an occasional vignette from history or fiction to round out the picture a little. Each of the actors plays several characters, real or invented, in a setting of open frameworks at several levels.

Central to the action is the biography of one man who grows up, as the years pass, from little Johnny Moorehouse, a schoolboy in Wilmington, to J. Ward Moorehouse, first of the public relations tycoons, man of affairs and adviser to presidents. His death signals the end of the evening, as arbitrarily as any event of nature. The Titanic sinks, the first World War comes and goes, the labor movement advances, the depression is at hand when the story closes.

This particular collection of impressions is the outcome of John Dos Passos' trilogy of the same title, adapted for the stage by Paul Shyre. As a selection from the totality of events it must reflect its authors' personalities and experiences; another selection by another man, even produced in the same format, could give a totally different picture of the atmosphere of the times. The exact opposite of a portrait in depth, "U.S.A." flashes by as a series of tableaux, a set of events which the listener remembers, or has heard of, but which in this presentation do not involve him. The flitting of the actors from one characterization to another emphasizes the feeling of surface texture.

Directed by Rick Morse, who also plays Moorehouse, the production is entertaining and lively. The lighting by Gale Peterson is outstanding in pointing up the tableaux, and his choreography has produced some delightful dances characteristic of the era. His partner, Dale Morse, goes pleasantly through the motions of the dances until one b r i e f scene as a burlesque entertainer, when she comes suddenly to life.

Mary Pattie is lovely and weary as Moorehouse's wealthy, schizophrenic wife; Tracy Carr moves effectively from a naive childhood in Georgetown to fussy, devoted spinsterhood as Moorehouse's secretary. Karen K o n d a n, whose beauty is underplayed by her coiffure, shows flashes of real magnetism as Moorehouse's feminine companion.

The real characters Dos Passos has chosen to present are Orville Wright, portrayed by Paul Wagner, and Eugene V. Debs, effectively presented by Jon Bankson. Bankson also does a marvelous job with a self-made industrial tyrant; a food faddist, one of Moorehouse's advertising clients.

Ron Stark does as well as could be hoped in a sentimentalization of the Unknown Soldier, and very much better as Dick Savage, a young man on the make, who is to be the heir to Moorehouse's kingdom.

Costuming and sets by Corliss Nickerson and Joan Larkey are imaginative and professional, accentuating the impersonal impact of the production.

"U.S.A." will play at White Oaks on Friday and Saturday evenings until February 19.

Experienced Actors Open Tomorrow In Studio's New Play

A quartet of experienced actors has been assigned roles in Benn W. Levy's farce comedy, "Springtime For Henry," opening tomorrow at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant.

Nick LeFeuvre Sr. will return to the Studio as Mr. Jelliwell. He has a long list of credits to his extensive theatre background. In New York he worked at the Magic City Repertory Company and at the Cherry Lane Theatre in Greenwich Village. Later he played summer stock with the Gilmore Comedy Players in Duluth, Minnesota. He has appeared at all Monterey and Carmel little theatres.

Mr. LeFeuvre is married to artist Helen Barker, and is supervisor of visual aids at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School. Appearing in "Springtime For Henry" is a special treat for him, because it will be the first time in ten years that he and his son, Nick Jr., will appear on stage together.

Nick LeFeuvre Jr. will take the role of the cantankerous Henry Dewlip. Artist, actor and stage designer, he has appeared in both professional and amateur productions since the age of ten, including television productions with the University of Washington in his home town of Seattle. He is a graduate of the Burnley School of Professional Art.

Layne Littlepage, who will play Miss Smith, has become a favorite with Studio audiences. She is a student of drama under Morgan Stock at MPC.

New to this area and to the Studio is Barbara Krumholz. She will play the role of a frivolous flapper, Julia Jelliwell. Her credits include Anne in "The Diary of Anne Frank" at the University of Ohio, also Peter Pan in Germany and Dayton, Ohio. She has danced in summer stock tours of "Westside Story". and "The Pajama Game." Barbara studied English and drama at the University of Ohio and received her master's degree in English at Columbia University. Her first novel will be published in the Spring by Random House.

Betty Hackett and Royden Martin are the producers, with Michael Keller at the helm as director. Ruth Jordan Allan is in charge of designing a set depicting a wealthy English bachelor's flat in 1924.

Dinner is served at The Studio Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 6:30-7:30 p.m. with curtain at 8:30 o'clock.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS START MINT SALES

Tomorrow, Monterey Bay Camp Fire Girls begin their traditional sale of chocolate-covered mints to help finance local activities of the 55-year-old national youth organization.

Locally, mint sale funds are used to supplement the general operating budget of the Monterey Bay Camp Fire Girls.

Orders for mints may be placed by telephoning 375-9164. Special recipes for use of the chocolate covered candies in a variety of desserts also may be obtained by calling the same number.

Nation's Expert On Non-Graded School Speaks Here Tonight

This evening, Dr. John I. Goodlad will speak on "Yesterday's Schools Are Not Good Enough for Tomorrow" at 8 p.m. at Brey Hall, Carmel High School. This will be the first in the current "Adventure in Education" lecture series. Undoubtedly the country's leading expert on the non-graded elementary school, Dr. Goodlad is a professor of education at the University of California at Los Angeles.

He is perhaps best known in American education for his work as director of the Englewood, Florida, project in elementary education, which was, and remains, one of the pioneer programs in non-graded elementary education.

A prolific contributor to encyclopedias and professional journals, Dr. Goodlad is also co-author of three books: "The Elementary School," Prentice Hall, 1956; "Educational Leadership and the Elementary School Principal," Rhinehart, 1956; and "The Non-Graded Elementary School," Harcourt, Brace, Rev. Ed. 1963.

Joan Baez Talks To High School Class

As the result of a debate in one of Miss Diane Hardy's speech classes at Carmel High School, Joan Baez was invited by one of the girls in the class, with the approval of the school administration, to present her views on nonviolence to the same class on Tuesday.

Word that Miss Baez was to speak spread. In consequence, the discussion was moved to Brey Hall to accommodate additional students and teachers.

The famed folksinger was subjected to considerable penetrating questioning by the students and the discussion was taped.

One of the conditions attached to the approval of the Baez talk was that the other side of the debated issue must also be presented. The opposite to Miss Baez's views will be given to the students by Paul Ecker of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School.

Principal Warren Edwards states that interest in the Baez talk was "out of all proportion" to the original intention of the talk which was to allow students in the speech class to hear an authority on one side of a debated question.

Medill Bair, superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, yesterday emphasized that board policy permits "freedom to enquire." This allows all sides of an issue to be presented to and discussed by students.

Buoy In Carmel Bay

Permission to place a buoy and weather research equipment in Carmel Bay off the foot of Ocean Avenue has been asked of the U.S. Engineer district in San Francisco by the director of the Western Division of the Bureau of Yards and Docks in San Bruno.

The requested buoy would mark the location of a small weather recording device attached to an anchor on the floor of the ocean.

Any permit issued by the Department of the Army for this research equipment and the work involved must have state approval. The permit, if granted, would only give approval of the federal government for the buoy insofar as it would affect the public rights of navigation.

A notice concerning the placing of the buoy and equipment has been submitted to the City of Carmel. Any objection, either by the city or other interested parties, must be made in writing and submitted in triplicate to the U.S. Army Engineer District, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco before February 10.

POLICE APPREHEND TWO TEEN-AGERS

Two Carmel teen-agers were apprehended this morning by the Carmel Police Department allegedly for jimmying coin containers on newspaper sales racks in the business district.

The two 16-year-old boys were released to the custody of their parents pending county juvenile probation department action.

Leidig, Lupe came to Carmel in 1935 to take care of "Grandma Leidig." She was born in Gonzales of a family which combined Old and New World Spanish ancestry. Her grandfather came from Barcelona, Spain, and her mother from Mexico City.

Active in women's organizations of Carmel Mission Basilica parish for the past 30 years, Lupe Ramos is a familiar figure each Sunday at the Mission. She also is familiar to many Carmelites who value her friendly greeting as they meet her about town.

Lupe has seen many changes come to Carmel. The latest will be the new shopping complex planned to occupy the site where she lived close to three decades.

Once Again Bing Gathers His Friends

a spectator this year. Others in the play are Phil Harris, Fred MacMurray, Ray Bolger, Tennessee Ernie Ford, James Garner and a host of other celebrities of stage, screen and the sports world.

Bing's "gathering" has grown into one of the great golf tournaments of the world. In one regard it tops all others, in that all proceeds are for charity. Contributions to youth work over the years have passed the million dollar mark, including $150,000 for student loans since 1963.

Carmel Youth Center members will sell food and beverages from the green and white Bingmobiles purchased with funds donated to the teenage recreation center from tournament proceeds accruing to the Crosby Fund.

Construction money for the center was donated by Bing Crosby from the same source. The 1966 Pro-Am will be televised coast to coast by NBC on Saturday and Sunday.

Leda Hopkins

Mrs. Alice Leda Hopkins, 89, a Carmel resident for the past 33 years, died Monday night in a Peninsula nursing home after a period of failing health.

A native of Canada, she came to establish her home here following the death of her husband, Colonel Frank D. Hopkins.

Mrs. Hopkins is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ruth C. Dutton of Pebble Beach and Mrs. Margaret Brokaw of San Diego; a son, Randolph B. Hopkins of Taft; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Barnert of Oakland; a brother, Edward M. Paterson of Aptos; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Charles Rayne

Private family services for Charles H. Rayne, a Carmel resident for the past 26 years, were held this morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, with the Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church officiating. Mr. Rayne died Tuesday in a Peninsula hospital of a heart condition.

A native of London, England, he was born on August 15, 1893.

He was educated in schools at Neuilly, France, and Cassel, Germany, and attended Kings' College, Wimbledon, England. Joining his father in H. & M. Rayne Company, London shoe manufacturers, Mr. Rayne served as director of the firm until his retirement in 1937. He was the donor of the Rayne Medal for industrial design.

Mr. Rayne and his wife, Doris, came to California with their family in 1937, making their home in Santa Monica until 1940, when they moved to Carmel. In 1943, he became associated with his sons, Derek G. and Clive H. Rayne, in Derek Rayne Ltd., of which he was secretary-treasurer.

A charter member of the Fashion Group in London, formed by Norman Hartnell, couturier to the Royal Family, he belonged also to the Royal Societies Club of London and, locally, to the Cypress Point Club.

In addition to his wife and sons, Mr. Rayne leaves a sister, Mrs. Bram Kitching of London, England; and three grandchildren, Shelley, Melinda and Trevor Rayne of Carmel.

Contributions in memory of Mr. Rayne are preferred to Mission Trails Heart Association, Box 191, Monterey.

Interment took place in El Carmelo Cemetery, Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Grace Hamilton

Miss Grace I. Hamilton, a Carmel resident for the past 40 years, died Monday in a Salinas hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was born in San Antonio, Texas, on August 29, 1878, and had lived in California since 1910.

Miss Hamilton, who came to Carmel in 1925, was a retired accountant and a member of the Carmel Foundation.

She leaves no known relatives.

The Reverend Lloyd Johnston of All Saints' Episcopal Church will conduct graveside rites for Miss Hamilton at Monterey City Cemetery tomorrow at 11 a.m.

PIANIST FOR TOWN HOUSE

Robert Tarbox, talented young Carmel pianist, will present a program of music for members and friends of the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday at 3 p.m. He will play Beethoven's "Sonata No. 9, Op. 14, No. 1 in E Major"; sections of "Children's Corner Suite," by Debussy; and "Sonata No. 3," by the modern composer Prokofieff.

Tea will be served at 4 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

Tonight at 8 p.m., the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club meets at the Town House, where Mrs. Frances Sweeney will show colored slides, "Gardens of Kyoto."

the above admonitions came after two personnel sessions devoted to the conduct of the fire chief. The first several-hour session was on Saturday. The second ended shortly after midnight yesterday.

To cover the lack of funds in the two fire department budgets, the council directed City Administrator Hugh Bayless to prepare for council approval such fund transfers as may be necessary to balance this department's budget. One possibility of accomplishing this is to draw on the city's contingency fund which contains $9,800.

City Finance Officer Arthur Plaxton states that in the months since Chief Baker came to Carmel, he has been informed frequently of the budgetary procedures of the city. Also, he has been told in the last two months that he was drawing heavily on funds which were designated to last until next July.

The head of any city department is empowered to expend funds allocated to the budgets of the department each year. Expenditures which might exceed these budgets must be submitted to the city administration and county.

Neither City Administrator Hugh Bayless or Mr. Plaxton were informed of the extent of Chief Baker's spending until a week ago when current bills for work for the fire department were received.

The council report reprimanding Chief Baker for his expenditures and conduct in relation to the community and other city departments will be placed in his personnel file.

Chief Baker was selected by the council in September from numerous applicants, following written and oral examinations. He took over the position left vacant last March when Robert E. Smith resigned after volunteer members expressed to the council dissatisfaction with Mr. Smith's administration of the fire department. In the interim period, James R. Belvail was acting fire chief.
